MCKEE ORGANIZING SERVICES INC. MAKES LIFE TURNKEY!

September 23, 2004: McKee Organizing Services Inc., a Pittsburgh-based firm offering Professional Organizing Services for home and business, has established a new estate and household management division. This service helps executives and retirees maintain larger homes and multiple residences.

The McKees found that the organizing industry was rapidly growing and that many clients were searching for someone to maintain an organized lifestyle. They developed a "menu" of household management services that include anything from overseeing staff and scheduling services, arranging events, to stocking the refrigerator with favorites to welcome clients home! Under their supervision multiple properties become turnkey and mundane tasks are no longer a chore. Clients generally keep the firm on retainer for the time they are away or year-round.

"People who have it all want a level of service that is just not out there and we are filling that gap," explains company owner Sandy McKee. Mr. McKee, formerly the catering manager of the Duquense Club, will direct the new endeavor. "We handle all the details so clients can enjoy what they worked so hard to attain."

Mary Louise Starkey, CEO of Starkey International, a leading private service training and placement firm, notes that this industry has come alive in the last six months in other cities such as Washington D.C., Los Angeles and New York and McKee Organizing Services Inc. is leading the way to bring this premiere service to Pittsburgh.
